In his excellent book Privacy and the Press, Joshua Rozenberg writes for the non-specialist and addresses important issues in the debate about privacy... his descriptions of complicated cases and the unravelling of complex (and sometimes barely rational) arguments are presented with a degree of panache, Justice of

Rozenberg, Joshua: Books

This judgement attracted a lot of criticism from the media. The media accused the court of “ inexorably and insidiously ” bringing in a new privacy law by the back door, which is leading to greater restrictions on the freedom of the press to publish stories about the rich and powerful . It is undisputable fact that for the past five and six years the court has been applying the law in such a way it protects individual rights.

The right to privacy is more important than the freedom of the press.

Freedom of the press is absolutely warranted on the condition that the reporting is done within the public realm. The right to privacy should be respected and reporters should be restrained from invading a person or institution's private space in order to write an article.
